Informationen zum Coronavirus/COVID-19
United Airlines | Reducing our New York area flight schedule

Sehr geehrte Reisebüropartner, hier finden Sie die aktuellen Informationen zum Thema Coronavirus von United Airlines:

"Dear Partners,

for weeks now, our country - and the New York/New Jersey region, in particular - has been dealing with an abrupt increase in the number of positive COVID-19 cases. As the situation in New York and New Jersey worsens, we are taking another major step at Newark and LaGuardia to help keep our customers and employees safe and play our part in helping to mitigate the spread of the outbreak.

Effective immediately, we have temporarily -- but significantly -- reduced our flying schedules to and from Newark and LaGuardia.

From Newark, we will offer approximately 15 total daily flights to our hubs and three international destinations - Frankfurt, London and Tel Aviv. From LaGuardia, we'll offer two daily flights to Chicago. The reduction plan will be in effect for at least the next three weeks.

As we make these schedule reductions, we are mindful that United continues to provide an essential service during these challenging times.

It enables the shipment of much-needed medical supplies and will allow us to continue to bring health care professionals from around the country to the front lines of this crisis in New York and New Jersey. We're working closely with the Mayor's Fund to Advance New York City and a local network of medical volunteer organizations, including The Society of Critical Care Medicine, to coordinate free travel for doctors, nurses and other medical professionals from across the country to help treat patients.

While our operations are significantly reduced, our commitment to you is not. At all times, our team remains available to answer any questions you may have - please do not hesitate to reach out to us.

Yours sincerely,

United Airlines Team."

Herzliche Grüße aus Berlin
